Personal safety alarm guidance

It is advised that use of an audible personal alarm should not be relied on as the sole means of preventing an attack and should be used in conjunction with other precautionary measures.

Please note the following advice:

General use

- Always have the alarm close to hand and ready for use.
- Plan your route / journey in advance.
- Tell someone where you are going and what time you will be back.
- Walk with confidence.
- Be alert.

When in your car

- Always have the alarm close to hand and ready for use.
- Always park in well lit areas.
- Have the keys ready as you approach your car.
- If another vehicle (including the police) is signalling you to stop, do not pull over in an isolated spot, wait until you reach a safe area.
- Be alert at all times.

Before you use your alarm

- Be sure you know how to activate and de-activate the alarm.
- Make regular checks on power and at the first indication of a weak sound, charge the battery.
- Practice appropriate means of carrying the alarm ready for use.

Remember

Personal safety alarms are designed for use by individuals who are under threat from attack and should be used with care and responsibility. It is intended to shock and disorientate an attacker to provide a distraction so that the user can make an escape.

It is not intended to be used as a distress signal for attracting help and attention. However the noise may induce fear of intervention and detection of others so this is an opportune secondary function.

DON'T FORGET AN AUDIBLE PERSONAL ALARM SHOULD NOT BE EXPECTED TO PROVIDE A COMPLETE SAFEGUARD AGAINST ASSAULT AND USERS SHOULD ALWAYS TAKE SUITABLE PRECAUTIONS TO REDUCE THE RISK OF ATTACK.
